JOHN ERNEST POYAS.

LONDON, JANUARY 4.

Extract of a letter from Paris, December 27.

"WE have some hopes that the disgrace of M. de Choiseul will not be of long duration; and there are even considerable bets laid on this matter. We have already had an example of the same kind in the d'Argensons under this reign. He hath always, from the commencement of the disputes between Spain and England, inclined to peace, and to the bringing about a reconciliation between them: All that has been mentioned to the contrary is totally false.

"His enemies not having been able to prove him the chief and sole actor, they have represented him to the King as the author and supporter of the obstinacy of the parliaments against the will of his Majesty; as if the members of those parliaments stood in need of aid and advice to support their rights and prerogatives. If these respectable bodies persist in their opinion during his disgrace, as before, we hope that his Majesty will not refuse to hearken to truth, which alone can triumph over falshood.

"There hath not yet been, since Choiseul's disgrace, any courier sent to the ambassadors of foreign powers; and the dispatches from foreign courts are received and opened here by the principal clerks in the respective departments, and communicated by them to his Majesty in person; so that he remains to this day King and his own Prime Minister.

"If no courier should be dispatched from hence to London within three days, a Minister plenipotentiary will go thither to carry the recall of M. de Guignes."

A gentleman arrived this week from Paris, says, that 18,000 troops are now quartered within six hours march of that capital.

A correspondent gives the following as the real cause of the Duke of Choiseul's disgrace: When the family compact was in the course of negociation, the Duke de Choiseuil made it a point, that if any in the Bourbon family compact should declare war against any European power, or should be attacked in their respective kingdoms and dominions, or war declared against any one of them, the enemy should be considered as the common enemy of the whole Bourbon family. Choiseuil, who never imagined that Spain would be the first to declare war against any power in Europe, by which general expression Great-Britain was solely understood, insisted upon the insertion of the above-mentioned clause. Being pressed by the Court of Madrid for a definitive answer, whether France would declare a war, or not, against Great-Britain, in case the Spanish King should first declare war; and Choiseuil at the same time knowing his Royal Master's inclination to peace, and the distressful situation of affairs throughout the whole kingdom of France, did, in the last Cabinet Council held at Versailles, declare his embarrassment, adding at the same time, that although France was by no means in a situation fit to enter into a war, conjointly with Spain, against Great-Britain, yet as the insertion of the above clause in the family compact was super-added at the particular request, and pressing instance, of the Court of Versailles, he thought it concerned the dignity and honour of the crown of France, not to remain any longer neuter, and he, therefore, was for war. The King disapproving, not only of the representation of the distressful situation of his country, but being himself totally averse to war, seemed much dissatisfied, and thus the Council broke up re infecta. The friends of Madame Barré instantly communicated the intelligence of the King's displeasure against Choiseuil, and as instantly drew up an order for the exile of Choiseuil for that lady to present to his Majesty. The French King, on coming into Madame de Barré's apartments, was presented with this written paper, the King signed it with that fatal word LOUIS, and in less than ten minutes the Duke de Choiseuil was sent into exile.

This day there was a full board of admiralty, for receiving the reports of the several deputies, sent to the different dock-yards in the kingdom.

A new system of regulation for the American colonies, has lately been submitted to the inspection of a great number of the most respectable merchants; and we are informed, will certainly be taken under the consideration of Parliament, soon after the adjournment.

JANUARY 5.

When the French ambassador the Count de Guigne, complimented Lord Sandwich the other day, on receiving the seals as secretary of state, the Frenchman said, with an arch sneer,—— "I perceive, my lord, that in England, unlike other countries, it is with ministers as it is with the current coin of the kingdom; the baser metals will not do, but it must be made of the finer species, silver or gold; it must have intrinsic value as well as the royal impression. His majesty's appointment of your lordship gives only the stamp and impression; it was your own intrinsic value before that intitled you to this office."—It is said his lordship was never put out of countenance before.

The great number of promotions both by sea and land, which our present warlike preparations rendered necessary, put it in the power of the Ministry to gain a great number of friends by the distribution of commissions, contracts, &c. This accounts very well for the increase of the ministers majority in both houses.

JANUARY 7.

Yesterday a Lady of distinction, who lately arrived here from the Court of Saxe-Gotha, related to her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales, was introduced to their Majesties at St. James's.

We are informed that an accomplished British Duke, has fallen in love with a German Princess, nearly related to a Great Lady in England.

By an express, which arrived on Saturday night from Edinburgh, we are informed, that the Right Hon. the Earl of Stair was elected one of the sixteen Peers of Scotland, by a majority of nine voices.

It is said that the President of a Great Assembly will be called up to the Upper Room at the ensuing meeting; an event which has long been in agitation, and expected by himself and friends.

Both Houses of Parliament will meet the 23d instant.

The affairs of America are to have the first place among those which are to be laid before Parliament; and the Irish business, it is said, is to be postponed.

We are informed, that the office of Lieutenant-Governor, which is at present in many places only honorary, will be made lucrative, at least when the Lieutenant is in actual service, it being deemed inconsistent to take any gentleman from the management of his private affairs, without allowing him a sufficient compensation.

JANUARY 8.

The following is a translation of the lettre de cachet, sent by order of the French king to the duke de Choiseul:

"My lord duke,—I am extremely dissatisfied with your services; and I command you to resign the three departments which you hold, the office of secretary of state for foreign affairs, secretary at war, and postmaster general: I further command you instantly to retire to Chanteloux: My first intention was to have banished you to Bourges; but in consideration to the duchess de Choiseul, I permit you to remain at your seat of Chanteloux, until you know my pleasure. (Signed) LOUIS."

Immediately after the delivery of the above lettre de cachet, all the letters and papers belonging to Mons. de Choiseul were seized by the duke de Vrilliere, and carried to the king.

They write from Paris of the 31st of December, that the parliament had received letters of jussion, on the 19th, by which his majesty commands it to resume its functions; but that the parliament refuses to obey them.

We hear from Paris, that Madame Barré conducts herself with so much circumspection to the princes of the blood, that she is treated with great respect by them, and has even most of them to her interest, especially in her political views.

As far as appearances hitherto give room for conjecture, there is ground to believe that the change in the affairs of France will instantly bring about a composure of the present differences between England and Spain. And some persons, who may be deemed to be well situated for intelligence, do not scruple to say, that some decisive transactions have already passed.

The continuance of peace is now absolutely fixed on between Spain and us; in the negociation for which, it is said, that our ministry have at last come off with some degree of honour—after we have become the laughing-stock of Europe.

A bill, it is said, will be passed during the course of the present session, to hinder the migration of British artificers to foreign parts, or even to the colonies.

We hear that a new-made Secretary of State is never admitted to any private conferences with a Great Personage, but receives his orders from the Premier.

A certain noble Lord, it is said, is for the present to be quartered on the receiver of a very considerable revenue, 'till something better can be done for him.

Lord Townsend has made a requisition in form for 6000 additional troops to the establishment of Ireland—as it is whispered, there may be occasion for them.

Exactly 35 ships of war have been put into commission since the negociation with Spain began.

A correspondent at Portsmouth has sent us the following paragraphs:

"We have a fine fleet of ships at Spithead to look at, but not any one of them is yet fit for the sea, there not being 200 able seamen on board any one ship; most of the crews are composed of landmen.

"The ships are continually going into the harbour to dock again, as if we never had a peace. Such is their condition, and such has been the care of our wooden walls."

By the last ships from India, we learn, that his Majesty's ship the Endeavour, on board of which is Dr. Solander, and Mr. Banks, who were sent to observe the transit of Venus, is safely arrived at Batavia.

JANUARY 9.

The Right Hon. the Lord Mansfield had a conference of an hour on Monday with his Majesty, at the Queen's Palace.

It was yesterday asserted for truth, that a messenger is arrived from the Court of Madrid, with news that his Catholic Majesty had accepted the plan of accommodation offered by Great-Britain.

It is talked, that the trade to Lisbon has, within these few months, been considerably extended, on account of some ancient privileges having been restored to the merchants there.

This day there was a full board of Admiralty, to give in their opinion upon the reports of the different deputies sent to the several ports to examine into the state of our marine.

JANUARY 10.

Sir Edward Hawke, has resigned, and Lord Sandwich is appointed first lord of the admiralty in his stead.

Hans Stanley, Esq; we hear is appointed secretary of state, in the room of lord Sandwich.

Lord Halifax, it is said, has resigned the privy seal.

Lord Mansfield, it is said, gave a great personage notice on monday, that he should not sit as speaker of a great assembly at the approaching meeting.

It is pretty confidently asserted, that many material alterations will take place in the principal departments of the law before the next meeting of parliament; and that Judge Bathurst will have the seals.

A correspondent observes, that the united powers of England, Scotland, America, France and Spain, are at present in force against the British ministry; and that if they can stand this opposition six weeks larger, they must be more than mortal.

We can, from undoubted authority, assure the public, there was no council this day, and that they may be no longer ignorant who compose these councils, they are as follow, viz. the three secretaries of state, lord North, lord Gower, and the first lord of the admiralty; so that when the affair of war or peace is determined, those are the council to whom the people must appeal.

A report having strongly prevailed, both in the city and at the west end of the town, that the negociation with Spain was concluded, several merchants waited on wednesday upon lord North to enquire into its authenticity; and, we are assured, were informed, that matters still remain in an uncertain state.

We understand, that lord Mansfield, who has all along been for peace, was the principal person in bringing about the accommodation with the court of Spain.

There was not a negative voice, it is said, to the final resolves of a powerful and secret assembly.

We hear there will soon be a new disposition of our ministers at foreign courts, and that there will be almost a general change.

Private letters received yesterday from Cadiz affirm, that the second division of the grand fleet destined to protect Spanish America, left that port the 6th ult. and that several trading vessels set sail with them to be under their protection. These letters add, that all preparations were making in that harbour for fitting out another squadron to cross the Atlantic, which would effectually secure their possessions in America from all accidents and surprizes whatever, whether peace or war was the issue of the present altercation between Great-Britain and Spain.

An exact list of the French and Spanish marine has lately been procured by the ministry, at a great expence, which has occasioned orders to be given for encreasing the number of artificers now employed in the King's yard.

It is whispered, that a certain ambassador at the court of Berlin, has desired to be recalled.

We are sorry to inform the public, that the Aurora, on board of which the supervisors embarked for India, is certainly lost in the streight of Sunda.

A great number of seamen are ordered to be sent from Portsmouth, on board two transport vessels, to reinforce the crews of his Majesty's ships on the American station.

We are informed, that a certain Admiral has proposed a scheme for raising a considerable number of seamen, for the service of government, without impressing.

LAST Saturday the Snow Gray, from Glasgow for Cape-Fear, Thomas Wooddrop Master, arrived off this Bar, and next Day proceeded on her Voyage. ——The same Day a Sloop passed by, to the Southward, supposed to be bound for Georgia or St. Augustine.

Monday last being the Anniversary of the Repeal of the Stamp-Act, which restored Harmony between Britain and her Colonies in the Year 1767, the same was celebrated here in a suitable Manner, by the Friends of Liberty and Trade, but more particularly by a Number of Gentlemen assembled at Mrs. Poinsett's, and the Sons of St. Patrick, at Mr. Dillon's. The Day was ushered in with Ringing of Bells.—It was also observed on James-Island, and at some other Places in the Country.

The Snow Chance, Capt. Brown, from Georgia, with Live-Oak Timber, for Philadelphia, was drove ashore and lost in a Snow-Storm, the 17th of last Month, near Cape-May.

The Winter to the Northward which had been remarkably temperate, began to be so severe the Middle of last Month, that by the 21st the Navigation in Philadelphia River was entirely stopt; and many Vessels have suffered on the Coasts of the several Provinces in Snow-Storms.

Herman Husbands, said to be chief Ringleader in the late commotions in North-Carolina, and one of the Assembly, having been taken, and imprisoned at Newbern, the Insurgents (as they are called) so seriously threatened to besiege that Town, to release him, that a Body of Militia was raised to oppose them. On the 8th past a Bill of Indictment was preferred against said Husbands, at the Court of Oyer and Terminer, but the Grand-Jury not finding the Bill, he was discharged, and the Quiet of that Province is said to be restored.

HIS pleasant PLANTATION, on Ashley-River, lately purchased from Doctor BRISBANE, containing five Hundred and Fifty Acres of high Land, and three Hundred and Fifty of hard Feeding Marsh, being about 14 Miles from Charles-Town:—Was there no other Advantage to recommend this Place than its pleasant healthy Situation, (being very high and having the Command of Fourteen or Fifteen Gentlemen's Seats on each Side of the River) it would be sufficient to those who wished for a Retreat that can be rendered as agreeable as any in the Province, but there are many Improvements capable of being made really advantageous, at no great Expence and Labour. It abounds with Pine either for Sawing or Rail-Timber; Likewise about one Hundred and Thirty Thousand BRICKS, ready for the Kiln; and should the Purchaser chuse, he may have the Frame of proposed Additions to the present Brick Building, with Boards, &c. for completing the same, which when done, makes a tolerable House of five Rooms under one Roof. ALSO,

Another Tract of LAND on the Saltketchers, Prince-William's Parish, lately purchased of JOHN MACKENZIE, Esq; containing, by a late Re-Survey, nine Hundred and Fifty Acres, the full Half of which is rich level Tupelo and Cypress Swamp, esteemed, by competent Judges, to be inferior to none in that Parish; far from being hazardous, as a three Foot Bank secures the same from the greatest Inundation. Near this Tract is another, containing three Hundred and Fifty Acres, which the Purchaser of the first may find to be very beneficial, as it is very well timbered with the best of Pine.

The Purchaser of either Tract may have Credit to the first of January, 1772, paying Interest.—Should they remain unsold by the 10th of April, they will be advertised for public Sale.
